Fiery Crash Fatal For Catron Woman

A Catron woman was burned to death and the drivers of both vehicles seriously injured in a car-truck collision Friday at 6:45 p.m., on route W, three miles north of Catron.

British Troops Break Through Irish Barricades

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops breached the barricades of Roman Catholic-controlled "Free Belfast" for the first time today in a major show of force designed to bring the city back under control.

Infantrymen with automatic weapons moved inside the barricades at the southern end of Albert Road, which forms the spine across the Falls Road Catholic stronghold.

They told a crowd who tried to repel them: "It's tear gas first and then we fire."

At the north end of the road they met a jeering crowd of the Catholic vigilantes who have held the area for the past three weeks.

The troops brought up bulldozers and truckloads of reserves. But as yet they made no effort there to go behind the barricades.

After a two-hour confrontation, the military came to an agreement with the leaders of the street's "defense committee" that the barricades would be removed and the army would guarantee the street protection.

The barricades control one eighth of Belfast since rioting broke out in mid-August. The military have been increasingly anxious to get them down for fear of a Protestant backlash.

Protestant areas are incensed by the Catholic flying of the Irish republic flag within the barricaded strongholds.

In East Belfast on the other side of the city, police dispersed an angry group of 1,000 Protestants who were advancing on a Roman Catholic section to tear down barricades.

About 1,500 British troops stood by but were not called in. Police encountered some stone-throwing from the demonstrators.

Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark only hours earlier had appealed for calm. Protestant protests were mounting after Catholics who feared attacks refused to dismantle barricades they had erected during last month's rioting.

Mrs. Eula Brown, 58, passenger in a 1964 Chevrolet, driven by her husband, Virgil Brown, 60, died when their car was struck by a 1969 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by James Swiney, 21, Catron.

The patrol harged that the Swiney pickup truck was speeding. The driver applied the brakes as the Brown car attempted to make a left turn into the drive of their home.

The truck struck the Brown car and both vehicles traveled 111 feet into a ditch. Both caught fire and burned.

Both drivers were pulled from the burning vehicles. The patrol said the woman passenger was not seen in time to be rescued.

Brown received a concussion and cuts. Swiney also suffered a concussion and internal injuries.

Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital in critical condition.

The body of Mrs. Brown was taken to Watkins and Sons Funeral Home in Parma.

Friday at 10 a.m. at the intersection of highway 60 and route E at the east limits of Morehouse, James Drake, 18, Charleston was injured seriously in a car-truck collision. He was a passenger in a 1969 Chevrolet, driven by Henry Dark, 20, Edmond, Okla.

The Dark car attempted to make a left turn, when a 1964 GMC truck, driven by William McClain, 51, Jonesboro, Ark., attempted to pass. Dark and McClain also were injured.

The three were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Billy Sibole, 20, Williamsville, received a broken left leg, in two-car collision Friday at 4:30 p.m. on route T, eight miles north of Poplar Bluff.

A 1959 Chevrolet driven by Charles Foster, 26, Newton, Iowa, ran over the center line and struck a 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Sibole, headon, the patrol charged.

Sibole was taken to the Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Seven children passengers on a school bus complained of minor injuries in an accident Friday at 3:30 p.m. on route C, one mile southwest of Croastown in Perry county.

A 1967 school bus, driven by Hilda Brueckner, 50, Perryville, and a 1955 Chevrolet school bus, driven by Jo Ann Lane, 32, Braseau, were parked side by side on a hill top when a 1967 Buick, driven by James Streiler, 46, St. Louis, rounded a curve, came over the hill and skidded into the 1967 bus.

A SMILE sparkling personality enabled Debbie Purcelli to win the 1969 Little Miss Dexter title Friday night among 63 contestants. She flashes that smile after outgoing Miss Dexter, Miss Jamie Carney, rear, crowns her. Named first alternate was Miss Shannon Lynn Hendricks, left. Miss Penny Garner gained the second alternate spot.

Enemy Prolongs Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops launched a second day of heavy attacks across South Vietnam today and battled allied troops in jungles northwest of Saigon and along coastal lowlands south of Da Nang.

The Viet Cong radio said the new round of attacks was a response to the death Wednesday of President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam.

A broadcast monitored in Saigon said the attacks were launched "to change sorrow into a revolutionary act after receiving the news of chairman Ho's death."

The heaviest attacks hit the Da Nang area, South Vietnam's second largest city 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

Viet Cong gunners slammed at least 140 rounds of rockets and mortars into the city and 11 American military installations.

At least 15 persons were killed and 155 wounded in the Da Nang attacks. Millions of dollars worth of food and fuel went up in flames as 100-pound rockets tore through supply depots.

The dead included three U.S. Marines, seven Vietnamese children and six Vietnamese civilians. The wounded included 120 Marines, 12 sailors and 23 Vietnamese civilians.

U.S. headquarters reported the enemy launched 40 rocket and mortar attacks overnight, including those at Da Nang, but said that only about half of them caused casualties or damage. In addition to the casualties at Da Nang, another 65 Americans were wounded in shelling elsewhere across the country.

Seven fresh enemy ground attacks were reported today and at least two battles still were raging north of Saigon.

U.S. Headquarters said at least 30 North Vietnamese had been killed in the two fights. Incomplete reports put U.S. casualties at three killed and 41 wounded.

Since the heavy action began Friday, at least 34 American troops have been killed and 387 wounded.

The U.S. Command said the sudden upsurge of enemy activity marked the second "highpoint" of the Communist Command's fall campaign. The first was on Aug. 12 when 137 allied bases and towns came under attack.

Although the Viet Cong radio claimed the second round of blows were a reaction to Ho Chi Minh's death, U.S. officers tended to discount this. They said that captured documents and prisoner interrogations two weeks before Ho's death had indicated another sudden eruption of enemy attacks this week.

Communist delegations were arriving in Hanoi from all over the world for the funeral of the North Vietnamese president who died Wednesday.

But the Communist Chinese delegation headed by Premier Chou en-lai already has paid its respects and returned to Peking, apparently to avoid being in the city when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin arrives today. It was not made clear whether the Communist Chinese delegation would return for the funeral, scheduled for Wednesday.

Nine Others Object to Inquest Rules

BOSTON (AP) — Nine persons who attended a party with Mary Jo Kopechne and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy the night she died in a car he was driving have joined the senator in asking the state Supreme Court to rule against conditions set for an inquest into her death.

The petitions filed Friday by the five girls and four men who attended the Chappaquiddick Island party parallel the one filed Tuesday by Kennedy in 68 asking the court to overturn 70 ground rules established for 68 inquest by Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown District Court.

Their petitions, however, 68 have an extra clause contending 68 that their rights to privacy would be violated by an open 1.02 inquest.

Like Kennedy's petition, the nine new ones argue that Judge Boyle erred in ruling that news media would be admitted, and that he deprived them of "due process" protection in refusing witnesses permission to have 1.96 counsel present at all times, to 3.29 cross-examine witnesses, and to 1.02 present evidence.

A court source said the nine new petitions filed Friday would be sent before the full bench with Kennedy's for a package ruling.

Hearnes Hopeful of Chances

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Issues being placed before the Missouri General Assembly in a special session beginning Monday stand a "fair chance" for passage, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said at a press conference here Friday.

Hearnes made a brief reference to criticism issued earlier in the day by Earl Blackwell, president pro tem of the Senate and the chief foe of the governor's tax proposals. The Democrat from Hillsboro had termed Hearnes' call for a special session "the most flagrant disregard of the people's will that I've ever witnessed."

Hearnes said people have a right to decide whom to believe on an issue. He said his figures on the state's tax needs were worked out by his budget staff, by the legislature's own fiscal officer, and with support from the Missouri Public Expenditures survey.

The governor also was critical of a report that former House speaker Thomas Graham was planning to add a referendum provision for a vote of the people on tax measures.

Hearnes was in Springfield to throw out the first pitch for the national softball tournament.

New Miss America to Be Crowned

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Performing a Marian dance, Miss Ohio Kathy Lynn Baumann won her second triumph in preliminary competition for the Miss America Pageant as tonight's finale approached for its 50 beautiful contestants.

Wearing a gold skin-tight space suit, Kathy, who lives only 50 miles from Neil Armstrong's hometown in Ohio, performed an original interpretative dance and gave a monologue on the moon landing to win the talent division.

"I've never met Mr. Armstrong, but I would like to someday," the 19-year-old brunette said.

Armstrong, first man to set foot on the moon, receives an official welcoming in Wapakoneta today while Kathy, a resident of Independence, attempts to soar into fame and fortune as Miss America 1970.

Miss Michigan, Pamela Anne Eldred of Birmingham, dazzled the 7,900 spectators in Convention Hall with her 36-23-35 figure to win the swimsuit division.

"I was shocked," Pamela said. "I always feel that somebody else has a better figure than I do."

Miss Michigan, a 21-year-old Mercy College of Detroit senior, aspires for a theatrical career.

Miss Ohio, who won the swimsuit competition Wednesday, slipped on the launching pad Friday night.

Gamblin Cited On Two Counts Of Misconduct

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Special Commissioner Ray Weightman has recommended that the Missouri Supreme Court discipline Granville L. Gamblin, a St. Louis County Attorney, on two counts of professional misconduct.

The former circuit judge from Maryville found that on count one Gamblin, as attorney for the former Mr. Jean Shelby of Poplar Bluff, encouraged the woman to meet with the judge hearing the divorce case in which she was the defendant.

The evidence showed, Weightman said, that former Circuit Judge John Hasler, Gamblin and Mrs. Shelby met in Gamblin's office to discuss the case. The evidence also showed that Mrs. Shelby told Gamblin she was meeting Judge Hasler intimately.

"Fine," the commissioner's report quoted Gamblin as saying, "don't tell anyone about the meetings."

The Missouri House of Representatives drafted articles of impeachment against Judge Hasler for his part in the Shelby case but he resigned and surrendered his law license just before the Supreme Court was to have heard the impeachment charges.

Count two was an estate case from Dent County where Gamblin grew up and practiced law until 1944. He is 65 years old now.

In that case he allegedly demanded a $5,000 fee before turning over a deed involved in an estate.

Weightman said that was improper.

Armstrong Tells Teens of Supreme Being Awareness

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Neil A. Armstrong, home for his first visit since walking on the moon, said today he is "most aware of the power of the Supreme Being and His art work."

The 39-year-old astronaut spoke to more than 2,000 cheering teen-agers, shook hands with his high school classmates of 1947 and visited with newsmen before heading for appearances at two luncheons planned simultaneously in his honor.

"I find it difficult to believe," he told newsmen, "anyone could see the sights I was privileged to see and the views I was shown on my travel and not be most aware of the power of the supreme being and his art work."

He told the teen-agers that the star Aquarius, also the name of a popular song, helped guide him back to earth.

A few minutes later he shook hands with members of his 1947 Wapakoneta High School graduating class and kissed one on the cheek.

The inevitable question, "Do you remember me?" caused him to stop in front of one former classmate.

"Punky, I'll never forget you," he replied to Doris Weber.

Then he leaned and kissed her on the cheek and shook hands with her husband, Kenneth Weber, who started taking flying lessons with Armstrong here in 1946.

This Northwest Ohio town of 7,500 filled up early with thousands of visitors who hoped for a glimpse of the first man to walk on natural earth satellite.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and comedian Bob Hope were asked to lead a parade and people stationed themselves along its route hours ahead of time.

As Armstrong arrived for the meeting with teen-agers, he circled the cinder track in front of the football field bleachers in a red convertible automobile.

Then he told the more than 2,000 youngsters:

"Some of you have a fan song that has become a fan song of mine. This is the dawning of the star of Aquarius ...

"The star of Aquarius helped me in my flight and rendezvous with the Apollo 11."

Poor Charlie Says!

We've listened to a lot of pro and cons about the business conditions, farm situation, stock market, inflation and the "money squeeze" affecting loans and interest rates, so we asked a smart cookie who has earned our admiration over the years to give us his assessment, especially to businessmen.

In short, this is what he said:

"Whether you are a part of top management or run your own business we suggest you keep the following points in mind:

"Stay out of debts that can knock you out of your business. This includes keeping down your current bills so that your creditors cannot shut off your business.

"If you can, take every step to build up sufficient cash resources that will take you through any trying period.

"We recommend a basic plan that will take you through three possible stages of a fast-moving decline in business:

"First stage: Cut out all your slow-moving merchandise items. Tighten up on your credit extensions. If you are in manufacturing, you might want to dispose of some of your productive facilities because there will be plenty of merchandise around of all kinds. Perhaps you can switch your energies -- try concentrating on sales.

"Second stage: This is the period when everyone will try to convince you that the trouble is over and that Washington will take care of things. Take this with a grain of salt and use this period to consolidate further in the areas mentioned in the first stage, and then prepare for the biggest wallop of all.

"Third stage: This could actually prove to be the most difficult of all these stages. Hurried and panicky decisions from consumers, businessmen and bankers may cause the severest cut in sales volume. Avoid wishful thinking in this stage. You should keep your inventory tight as can be, not hesitating to be short of inventory if necessary because the chances are that you will get more merchandise easily as goods start chasing cash. Above all, if you are running a business don't fall for the wonderful business talk. Just calmly and coolly tighten up your business ship. Cut costs wherever you can. Do all you can to knock down receivables by encouraging cash payments with incentive discounts. Move inventories where you can on a cash basis.

"If you follow some of those simple everyday principles, you can't help but come out ahead in a financial and business crunch."

To this, all we can add is that you can take it or leave it -- but think.

A NEW ROLE FOR OLD GLORY

The Hebron (Nebraska) Journal-Register reports that the Hebron police force is joining the growing list of police units across the country that are adding an emblem consisting of a full-color reproduction of the flag to their uniform.

The trend began in Macon, Georgia, where instance of attacks on police officers had grown to abnormal proportions. The emblem bearing the flag were added to the police uniforms and the attacks fell off almost immediately. Though there was no proof that the drop in attacks and the flag's appearance were linked, it seems more than coincidental.

At any rate, the American Federation of Police got behind the idea and it is spreading. In Roselle, New Jersey, patrol cars are decorated with a plastic flag emblem on the side. Many police and fire vehicles show the flag either on their antennas or on windows.

Chief B. L. Woolard of Hebron was quoted in the Journal-Register as saying in his announcement of the uniform emblem: "The police officer today stands for law and order in this community. He is the symbol of freedom, justice and protection for the law abiding. It is therefore very appropriate for us to wear and display our nation's flag as part of our uniform to remind our citizens of the role we play in the defense of their homes and lives."

Chief Woolard is right. Too often we overlook the importance of the police officer to the community and the nation. We are, after all, a nation of many communities. We are the United States of America, not the United States. That plural denotes many states composed of many parts - the communities these men protect. They deserve to wear the colors of the nation. We hope the idea catches hold all across the nation, in every hamlet and village, town and city.

Scene of the Crime. In Vienna, while a trial was in progress, two men entered district court with a ladder, began to dismount a large pendulum clock, continued working despite the judge's protests, coolly walked out with their loot.

A release by The Association of Western Railways noted President Nixon's description of the nation's transportation network as an example of democracy at work. He expressed this view while signing a Presidential proclamation designating National Defense Transportation Day and National Transportation Week. May 16 has been designated as National Defense Transportation Day, and the week of May 11-17 as National Transportation Week. President Nixon's proclamation said, in part: "Transportation makes all other industries possible... It must be designed to give our citizens the mobility they need... Our commerce and culture depend on a revitalized transportation industry to end congestion and delay and to prepare for the burgeoning demands of the future."

THE LONG, COOLED SUMMER

It seems to have little to do with the weather, but in terms of violence we are coming to the end of a long, cooled summer. Steamy as the days have been in most of the cities, we've got along pretty well with a minimum of riots and civil disorders.

Statistics are hard to come by. But a special "riot watch" unit in the U. S. Department of Justice tells Editorial Research Reports that there were just seven incidents classified as riots in the first seven months of this year as against 24 in the like period of 1968. And the majority of these were in so-called "second echelon" cities - places like Passaic, N. J., and Harrisburg and York, Pa., which previously had had little history of racial conflict.

For the big cities the story for the most part has been isolated sniper incidents. Even so, the Lemberg Center for the Study of Violence at Brandeis University noted recently that it had uncovered only 25 incidents of sniping during some 100 disturbances and that only eight of these incidents might have been premeditated.

Another source within the Justice Department lists 2,736 incidents of violence as of mid-1969, as against 4,489 such incidents in the whole of 1968. A spokesman warned that the figures were not comparable and did not reflect the marked dampening down of city violence.

The senate government operations Permanent Investigations subcommittee last Oct. 9 issued a report updating its 1967 statistics on urban riots and civil disorders. The period ran from September 1967 to July 1968 and included the massive riots following the April 1968 assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Senate study listed 57 riots, leading to the death of four law officers and 55 civilians, causing injuries to some 3,897 persons, and producing an estimated $48 million in property damage. Washington suffered the heaviest damage - about $24 million. Unfortunately, the subcommittee is carrying no running tally for comparison this year.

Why the lull? Perhaps the assassinations after the King murder provided a kind of catharsis of emotions. Perhaps it suddenly became respectable to call out the National Guard - though still pretty lily-white and jerryed at as White Panthers - as a deterrent to riots.

Government officials will tell you quietly that police departments in the big city this summer were prepared - and armed - against street violence. Small cities, with inadequate and unsophisticated police forces, were not.

A Justice Department spokesman says also that people in the ghetto are beginning to realize that civil disorder - in the forms of riot, looting, fire bombing, and shooting - works against their very own people. "Creative disorder" is being cited as a force for preventing big-city racial riots.

Put very simply, ghetto activists are channeling heretofore explosive energies into meaningful protest. Walter Bremond, chairman of the Black Congress in Los Angeles, predicted eight months ago: "The thrust now is to organize the black community at every level to control our own communities." Sooner or later the ghetto had to stop fouling its very own nest.

Mothers may give their families a gift of healthier hearts and longer life through a fat-controlled, low cholesterol diet.

Wanderer's Return. In Southend, England, Thomas Rennie walked into the local police station with Mildred Browne, stuck her in the mouth, knocked her down, told the police clerk: "I brought her here purposely to do it. I want to get back in prison. I'm no good outside."

Did you know? Enough people are born every 39 days to fill a city the size of New York? In 1968 world population increase equalled the combined populations of France and Spain. New Americans are being born at the rate of one every 14 seconds - a slowdown from 1964's one every 12 seconds.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

—By Jack Anderson—

WASHINGTON--President Nixon is preparing to throw the full weight of the White House behind a volunteer action program for college campuses. His idea is to challenge the youthful rebels to put their muscle where their mouths are and to correct the social deficiencies they have so vocally criticized.

As a beginning, the White House was compiled a manual, which will be sent to campuses across the country. This column has obtained an advance copy of the manual, which declares bluntly:

"Working as volunteers allows students to turn their deep concern with social problems to positive rather than destructive ends. The student who cannot do something about his concerns is a frustrated student, and there have been many frustrated students among the crowds that cause turmoil on campuses.

"Only a tiny minority of students are radicals. Most students want to work for change within the system. Schools that support volunteer programs are taking a realistic approach to meeting the needs of their students. It is no panacea, but it is a step in the right direction."

President Nixon believes that most of today's explosive generation consists of moderates with good intentions. They possess an enormous energy and an unrelenting spirit of idealism - a combination, he feels, that is lethal only when kids lack direction and follow the path of least resistance.

He hopes to tap this tremendous well of energy and divert it into constructive channels before it has a chance to vent itself in violence. As the President sees it, the Federal Government should be as invisible as possible. If volunteer programs are to be successful, they must be staffed and supported by the students themselves.

THE USES OF FRUSTRATION by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

BABBITT, Minn.-All afternoon the languid walleyes and northerners, deep in the cool, amber waters of Birch Lake, have been turning their fishy eyes on a parade-my parade.

They have observed an endless succession of minnows, jigs, spiders, frogs, flatfish, wobblers, poppers, spoons and muddlers dragged back and forth across the bar in futile seduction. I am utterly frustrated -- and happy.

FISHING is a frustrating business devoted to the entrapment of that most idiotic and unpredictable of God's creatures. A fish is insane.

The fly that is irresistible at 8 o'clock is a subject of nausea at 9. Yesterday the secret was fresh live bait. Tomorrow it may be a plastic worm filled with blue goo. Fish are made moody by the phases of the moon, rendered antisocial by atmospheric pressure and driven into paralysis by a shift of wind.

Still the fishermen come, weary of a thousand miles of highways, laden with outlandish lures, spurred by advertisements showing grinning cretins lifting impossible strings. And we have a wonderful time. Why?

WHEN Dr. Freud laid much of man's unhappiness to frustration he was pointing to those gnawing frustrations that hammer down the ego, twist the lid, lacerate the libido and are compensated for in foolish fantasies if not dementia. Most frustration is fun.

If they ever take the frustration out of fishing it will be a drag, and we are heading that way. You can already buy portable sonars that will not only outline the bottom but will bounce echoes off a fish.

Soon there will be small computers into which you will crank sun time, water temperature and barometer and it will read out "Try a gold spinner at 7 feet," or just "Go home." That will finish the fun of fishing.

OR TAKE golf. For all but the gifted few it is a dreary succession of whiffs, flubs, tops, hooks, slices, shanks and journeys into jungles more futile than the search for the Holy Grail. Yet the line at the first tee lengthens every year and the perspiring and furious wretches who hole out at 18 are utterly convinced that tomorrow will be a better day. It's a miserable business. And it's fun.

Man was not made for fulfillment. He was made for hope. He was designed to reach and usually fail. He really doesn't want to win all the time -- or even most of the time. Why are the most popular solitaire games those that generally beat you?

RECREATION, therefore, is not so much the avoidance of frustration as the substitution of new and exciting ones for those that are old and tiresome. Balancing on a surfboard, climbing a mountain or trying to make a grand slam on a 14-count all present problems pregnant with potential disaster.

The quickest way to make a child miserable is to try to spare him frustration. The utterly spoiled youngster is a flaming boil of petulance, guilt, self-hatred and boredom. Denied healthy struggle he will reach for the unhealthy chance. Parents in the emergency room after the hot rod wreck ask, "Where have we failed?" Perhaps they failed to let the youngster save and work and scheme for what he wanted and fall short occasionally, even then.

ONE characteristic of government is a hard, tough, centralized, Communist operation. But its good people, once you get out of broad boulevard Bucharest, are poor, wearying, not overly fed.

Most of them hate the Russians. The Romanians blame the Soviets for the fact that women here are street cleaners, construction workers, trench diggers and field hands.

For weeks there is no meat, no slight deviation from the rudimentary foods. There is a six-day work week. Teachers earn some $70 a month. Teamsters take home a few lei less.

Remember, this is a Latin "revolution." They avert their eyes. Like all Latins they want the good things -- and most freedom, to live as they wish to get the red cloud from between them and the beautiful sun.

But here freedom is where the nation can afford it. There is no free trade union movement as we know it. Officials of the Romania labor "syndicates" (unions) scoff at "socialists" who are unskilled American hospital workers (in New York) now earn $100 a week. That's four times what a skilled construction worker makes.

There is freedom of religion -- unlike the grim anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union. Here the Chief Rabbi is David Rosen. He leads 100,000 Jews who survived Antonescu's Iron Guard -- the Nazis' front during the 1941-45 war.

There are kosher restaurants, synagogues, Jewish literature and open worship. Rabbi Rosen, a man of 50, is a member of Parliament, a fine orator, a gregarious chap and has in effect become the most influential and active spokesman for the other religious -- of which there are seven.

On Sunday, Greek Orthodox priests baptize infants with the traditional dipping of the child's head into the holy water. Church doors are open and the visitor is welcomed.

Let me make it clear again. This land of "Mmmaliga" (corn meal) and flowers and more flowers is no paradise. The secret gendarmerie is around. It's just that I could not find any body in the long halls of the Museum of the History of the Communist Party of the Revolutionary and Democratic Movement in Romania. There was, of course, a very attractive and dedicated lady guide. I was her only customer, I believe, in months.

What is happening in this burdened land which President Nixon came, saw and conquered is beautifully reflected in what happened at the Romania Communist Party's tenth Congress. Konstantin F. Katushev, head of the Soviet delegation to this convention, delivered a long speech, as do all secretaries of the Russian Communist Party's Central Committee (CPSU).

At the end, he proudly announced that he had a gift from his central committee to the Central Committee of the Romanian Communist Party. Then he unveiled it -- a bust of Lenin.

If there is anything this land needs less than a bust of the bearded little egotistical sadist who took the Kaiser's money and transportation to launch a revolution, it's a Hurricane Gamble.

I'm reliably informed that one of the delegates said, in effect, "Compare that with hippycyf to the moon Mr. Nixon plans to chart the 27 billion 1971-1975 five-year industrialization plan -- America's talent."

Romania's leaders know that their salvation is in liaison with America. They also know they have a long common border with a military regime in Soviet Russia.

So if Nicolae Ceausescu is a Big Brother or a Big Daddy, he's also the star of the biggest juggling act in the history of political vaudeville.

uniform who was behind over his hand doing something to his fingernails as he stared down her creamy V. "Now," she said at last, "would you like your cuticle pushed down?" "Nope, Mam, I just figure to have this barber let me walk around a while with this sheet over my front and I'll be all right."

The guy who paid $1500 for a rouse had a higher price on his head than Jesse James.

JUST LOOK OUT!
"You must have had a terrific night last night; your eyes are sure bloodshot," the old friend said.

"Yes, but you oughta see them from this side!"

SQUARE MAYBE, BUT FUNNY
Yes, sir and ma'am, it's nice to know that the permissive society is rewarding its offbeat, upbeat, downbeat, underground and voyeur-type movie industry properly... at the box office.

Want to know what is leading the list of 50 top-grossing films as reported by the trade daily, Variety?

Walt Disney's for-all-the-family comedy, "The Love Bug." Something seen seldom on the screens these days - good, clean, out-of-style fun-in-said to be responsible. Could this be?

And that Noah landed on Ararat because the other airports were socked in?

According to a waggy pundit we know, the trouble with political jokes is that they sometimes get elected.

She Should Give Up Her Future For His...

Dear Ann Landers: I am 22, have just completed two years of college and am fighting off two families, my girl's and mine. Here's the problem - and if you can't help me, forget it. I don't need any more negative opinions.

Laura will be 17 in November. She has one more year of high school. I want to marry her before school starts. And don't say she is too young. You've never met her. This girl is mature and solid and more of a woman than any college chick I've ever dated.

If Laura and I got married she could find a good job and I could quit working part-time and devote all my time to studying. It's very tough to work and study, too. Laura could get her high school diploma through the mail or go back to school later - after I graduate.

She is willing, but her folks are violently opposed and so are mine. How about a helping hand? - T.N.T.

Dear T.N.T.: You don't need a hand. You need a foot, brother, well placed. You want a 16-year-old girl to quit high school, go to work and help you through college, and she can get HER diploma through the mail or go back later, eh?

If Laura has one operating brain cell in her head she will stay in school where she belongs and tell you to get lost.

Dear Ann Landers: Six months ago my beloved husband passed away. We had no children and my entire existence revolved around him. When he died, part of me died with him. I am depressed and lonely.

I've been offered an appealing position as a housemother in a dorm on campus. Friends say it would be ideal. I did counseling several years ago and enjoyed it thoroughly. But I can't make up my mind. There are times when I feel I'll go crazy if I don't get away from my memories. Then again I can't bear to say good-bye to this lovely apartment where my beloved husband and I shared so many wonderful times. Help me decide. - Hyacinth

Dear Hyacinth: Keep the apartment intact and try the dorm for one year. If you aren't happy, you can return. It's worth the gamble.

I can be 26, not bad to look at and I consider myself decent. According to YOUR standards, however, I am a tramp because I go to bars and discotheques to meet people.

You forget that not everybody can go to college or belong to a country club or travel in a social set that plays polo and goes to ski lodges. Working girls have to do what they can to meet men, and bars are where the men are. Get with it, Kid. - Decent Enough

Dear O.K.: A 16-year-old girl to quit high school, go to work and help you through college, and she can get HER diploma through the mail or go back later, eh?

Dear Ann Landers: Six months ago my beloved husband passed away. We had no children and my entire existence revolved around him. When he died, part of me died with him. I am depressed and lonely.

I've been offered an appealing position as a housemother in a dorm on campus. Friends say it would be ideal. I did counseling several years ago and enjoyed it thoroughly. But I can't make up my mind. There are times when I feel I'll go crazy if I don't get away from my memories. Then again I can't bear to say good-bye to this lovely apartment where

CERAMIC SCULPTURING has become a big part of Mrs. Vonda Bryant's life. She is shown in her home as she goes about creating an image of Police Chief Arthur Bruce.

Sikeston Police Woman Is Very Versatile!

Television's "I Led Three Lives" program that was popular back in the 1950s could just as easily have been about Sikeston's police woman, Mrs. Vonda Bryant.

In addition to her police activities, Mrs. Bryant is a mother and wife and beginning Tuesday night she will instruct an adult education class in ceramics at Senior High School. This is the first time such a class has been available at the school.

Mrs. Bryant, prior to becoming a police woman, worked in ceramics 13 years at Mayfield, Ky.

"In the class, which will last eight weeks, I hope to give everyone enough basic knowledge to make any type of ceramic ware," she said.

Mrs. Bryant said anyone who "loves to work with their hands" and "create new things" would enjoy the course, which can be very practical. Items that can be made include ashtrays, lamps, figurines, tea pots and so forth. The classes will be held each Tuesday night and will last from two to three hours. Persons wanting to take the course can enroll by calling 471-5440.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

Brother Ronald, a British monk with the Society of St. Francis, has been sort of a Pied Piper to the children of the island of Bermuda. On a recent visit from Liverpool, England, to St. Johns Church in Bermuda, Brother Ronald conducted a youth mission, bringing his guitar and his infectious personality. He introduced a lively atmosphere to the singing of the hymns. He encouraged the children to bring new songs, poems and music they could sing in church. Many children brought their own guitars and ukuleles. It was great fun and a dynamic experience in the power of faith.

By appealing to the children's own interests he made firm friends and gave them a strong sense of Christian living and unity. Brother Ronald has worked for many years with the Bishop of Liverpool's Industrial Chaplaincy, visiting schools, organizations and, in particular, factories. As a young man Brother Ronald was a commercial artist and "semi-pro" actor. This background has helped him in appealing to his audiences, particularly children.

"Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me: for of such is the Kingdom of heaven." (St. Matthew 19, 14.)

Former Bloomfield Coach Named Mizzou Assistant

COLUMBIA -- Norm Stewart, basketball coach at the University of Missouri-Columbia, today dipped into the high school coaching ranks to hire a replacement for Roy Dewitz, his top assistant.

Walt Shublom (pronounced SHOE-BLOOM), highly successful cage coach at Wyandotte high school in Kansas City, Kan., for 14 years, will succeed Dewitz, who resigned this week to go into the insurance field. Dan Devine, director of athletics, announced the coaching change.

Shublom, whose Bulldog teams won 10 state championships (the last three in a row), and 13 conference titles, will be an assistant coach in charge of the freshman team. Dan McCleary will be Stewart's varsity assistant.

"I am very pleased that our basketball program would attract a high school coach of Walt's stature," Stewart said. "He has achieved what is almost impossible to achieve on a high school level -- national recognition."

Shublom has a lifetime record of 296 wins and 26 losses. At one time the veteran coach had five of his former players starting on Big Eight teams. Three of his most prominent proteges won prep all-America honors -- Larry Comley, Lucius Allen and Pierre Russell.

Last year, Shublom was voted national High School Coach - of - the - Year in District 5. A graduate of Southeast Missouri State, he began his high school coaching career in Bloomfield, Mo.

Shublom is married and has a daughter Mary Ann, 17, and a son Sam, 9. He holds a Masters degree from the University of Kansas.

Dewitz came to Columbia with Stewart two years ago. The former K-State all-conference guard had been head coach at Augustana college in South Dakota. He was Stewart's No. 1 aide and top recruiter.

Acknowledging Dewitz's contributing to the Tiger's thriving basketball program, Stewart said:

"Roy has done an outstanding job for us, but when he came with me to Missouri, I knew it would be on a short-term basis. He gave up a head-coaching job to come here, and now has chosen to enter another field (insurance) which is definitely an advancement. We wish him all possible success."

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) -- A motorist may have frightened two deer into committing suicide.

Charles Evans told the sheriff's office he was approaching a bridge when he spotted two deer on the span. As he drew near, he said, they suddenly leaped over the side of the bridge.

The animals were found dead beneath the bridge.

TOM HENZI, former Sikeston High School football player and now a member of the Culver-Stockton College squad, recovered a fumble in the first inter-squad scrimmage of the year. He's a junior.

O. J. Simpson, one of the most celebrated rookies in pro football, returns to the scene of his college exploits in Los Angeles tonight.

Buffalo Coach John Rauch indicated he might start his Heisman Trophy-winning halfback against the Los Angeles Rams as part of an all-rookie backfield. That would mean he would start Bill Enyard in the other running back slot and Jim Harris of Grambling College at quarterback. Simpson started running with the Bills' first unit on Wednesday after carrying 12 times for 52 yards in games with the Lions, Colts and Bears.

The Rams are favored to boost their pre-season record to 3-2, but many in the sellout crowd of 60,000 will be there to see Simpson perform as a pro for the first time in Los Angeles after a dazzling career at Southern Cal.

The Bills, 1-4 for the summer, wind up their pre-season schedule before hosting the World Champion New York Jets in an American Football League opener next Sunday. The Rams, strong contenders in the National Football League Coastal Division, play their last exhibition game against the San Francisco 49ers Sept. 13.

In other games tonight, the Jets, 3-2, are at Dallas, 3-1, with Joe Namath a questionable starter because of a slightly strained tendon in his left knee; Pittsburgh, 1-2, is at Green Bay, 2-2; Houston, 2-2, is at New Orleans, 2-2; Atlanta, 2-2, at Kansas City, 5-0; Cleveland, 2-1, at Washington, 2-2; Detroit, 3-1, meets Philadelphia, 2-1, at Raleigh, N.C.; Boston, 2-2, faces Miami, 0-5, at Birmingham, Ala.; Cincinnati, 2-2, plays host to Denver, 1-3, and the New York Giants, 0-3, are at Minnesota, 3-1. San Francisco, 0-4, entertains St. Louis, 2-2, in the only game Sunday.

While Los Angeles fans are assured of their money's worth, 73,000 fans in Dallas expecting to witness Namath in his Cotton Bowl debut might go home disappointed. The game has been sold out for two weeks—the earliest sellout in Cowboys history.

Namath says he hurt his knee against Minnesota last weekend and said he wouldn't decide until the pre-game warmup if he would play. Dr. James Nicholas, the Jets' orthopedic specialist, said he would advise the quarterback to rest, since it's just an exhibition game so his knee would be in shape for the opener against Buffalo.

Namath's knee problem is not expected to affect his readiness for the season.

If Namath doesn't play, Ewbank will get a longer look at rookie Al Woodall and 38-year-old Babe Parilli, who are vying for the No. 2 quarterback spot. Woodall directed 15 plays in a 67-yard drive to seal the Jets' 21-17 victory over Minnesota.

The Packers and Steelers will each reveal revitalized offenses

but the Packers, who had more to begin with than the Steelers, are heavily favored. Green Bay appeared to have pulled together the right offense when they toppled Cleveland from the unbeaten ranks.

"We have people who can block, who can carry the ball, who can catch the ball and who can pass," Packers Coach Phil Bengtson said after the 77-17 decision over Cleveland. Bengtson then moved running back Danny Anderson to flanker in practice "in case we want to use him there."

In another development, Green Bay withdrew waivers on running back Perry Williams, a rookie from Purdue, after the Steelers claimed him. Williams had been waived after fracturing his hand in the Cleveland game.

It was the second straight day a rival club had forced the Packers to withdraw waivers on a player. On Thursday, the Vikings claimed veteran quarterback Zake Bratkowski, who retired after last season. The Packers had wanted Bratkowski, now an assistant coach, to be available for the taxi squad in case of "dire emergency," Bengtson said.

Missouri's National League Club Wins 1-0, American Falls 5-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The St. Louis Cardinals scored the game's only run in the eighth inning to edge the Montreal Expos 1-0 Friday night but an eighth inning rally by the Seattle Pilots led to a 5-4 defeat of the Kansas City Royals.

In St. Louis, Mike Shannon opened the Cardinals eighth inning by walking. Shannon scored when Julian Javier doubled. The Royals also scored bunted and Montreal first in the third on an RBI single by baseman Ron Fairly threw wild. Joe Foy.

In St. Louis tonight, Bob Gibson, 16-10, will pitch for the Cards against Jerry Robertson, 4-12, for Montreal.

In Seattle tonight the Royals will send Jim Rooker, 4-12, against Bob Meyer, 0-0.

Nelson Briles, 14-12, pitched a three-hitter for St. Louis. Expo starter Howie Reed, 6-5, took the defeat as the Redbirds only managed five hits.

In Seattle, Danny Walton tied the score for the Pilots in the eighth with a sacrifice fly. Greg Goosen won it for Seattle with a single.

Walton and Goosen hit consecutive homers in the third and Ray Oyler doubled in the Pilots' other run in the second.

Kansas City scored in the second on Jackie Hernandez' squeeze bunt and Pat Kelly's

NBA Commissioner Attacks ABA Tactics

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association charged today that the rival American Basketball Association was raiding college players in an effort to harass the NBA into agreeing to a merger of the two leagues.

"This harassment on the part of the ABA won't work," Kennedy said. "The resumption of any merger talks at this time would be very difficult."

Kennedy described the signing of Detroit University star Spencer Haywood with the Denver Rockets of the ABA as deplorable and was just as angry about reports that ABA clubs had approached at least two other college players who, like Haywood, have not yet graduated.

"For many years, pro football and basketball clubs have religiously and with great integrity adhered to the policy of not drafting college players until their class is graduated," Kennedy said.

Kennedy placed much of the blame on James Gardner, president of the ABA and owner of the Carolina Cougars.

"It's unfortunate that a man who has been in pro sports for only six months and who owns a team that has not even played a game would allow this sort of thing to happen," he said.

Gardner could not be reached for comment.

Kennedy said he has had calls from a number of coaches who were worried that the NBA might get into the act.

"I responded with a flat and affirmative no," he said.

Two coaches, Johnny Dee of Notre Dame and Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, have already publicly denounced the ABA action. Tennessee Coach Ray Mears also expressed concern. Dee said he would ask the College Basketball Coaches Association to bar ABA personnel from collegiate games, locker rooms and practices. Rupp demanded a hands-off policy and a commitment from both leagues that no college player would be drafted until after he graduates.

It was reported Friday that ABA clubs had offered contracts to Calvin Murphy, All-America from Niagara University, and Bob Lanier of St. Bonaventure. Both are beginning their senior year this month.

There were rumors Murphy had been contacted by the Los Angeles Stars.

Murphy told Niagara Coach Frank Layden he would not sign. Lanier's father said a New York lawyer had contacted his son about an ABA offer.

Haywood, 1968 Olympian who had two years of eligibility left at Detroit, signed with the Rockets two weeks ago. The ABA signed Haywood as a hardship case, but Kennedy said the NBA does not follow that policy because "it would violate the player's scholarship contract with his college."

Meanwhile, there were reports that several NBA players planned to jump to ABA teams.

The two leagues halted merger talks last month when the Cougars signed Billy Cunningham of the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers to a contract, effective in two years, and the ABA shifted its Oakland franchise to Washington D.C.

The feud between the rival leagues recalls the pro football hassle of four years ago when the younger American Football League began signing stars of the established National League. The merger of the two leagues followed.

Tigers Hold Scrimmage

Missouri's Tigers scrimmaged today with the top 25 players going against the remainder of the squad. By doing this Coach Dan Devine says he hopes to provide some competition. "We have a pretty good offense to test the No. 1 defense," he said. The scrimmage is closed to the public.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hartman
Muench-Hartman

CHARLESTON--The marriage of Miss Mary Muench, daughter of Mrs. Carl J. Muench, Sr., and John T. Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Hartman, Michigan City, Ind., was solemnized at 3:00 P.M. Sat., June 14, at the Hunter Memorial Presbyterian Church in Sikeston, Mo., with Rev. Lindy Cannon performing the double ring ceremony.

Escorted by her brothers, Carl J. and Pete Muench, the bride wore a formal length gown made of nylon chiffon and chant-lace. The empress bodice was of the chiffon, featuring a boutique neckline and long sheer sleeves coming to a point over the hands. The controlled skirt of lace was softly gathered at the back, forming fullness that swept to a chapel length train. This remarkable woman is as straight as an arrow, her eyes as keen as though but 16, her hair as white as snow and her face beautiful.

May good health continue with her to the end of the journey. His abdomen pierced by a slug from a .22 rifle accidentally discharged by his grandson, George Stewart, 58-year-old farmer, who lived west of East Prairie, died en route to a physician's office here Monday morning.

What We Think About It

By Lt. Colonel Norman E. May of Warwick, Bermuda

I suggest that the personnel, establishments, constitution and organization of the United Nations be changed war, and the disposition of arms and instruments of war, and the disposition of forces of all Nations in good standing in the United Nations.

(1. repeat the veto
(2. adopt and make official a glossary or dictionary of political names, terms and expressions and make it mandatory that these names, terms and expressions be correctly used in debate, report and all other diplomatic and official communication.
(3. adopt and make official standard minimal codes of justice, education, internal revenue, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and freedom of movement required of member nations in good standing.

(4. establish and operate an "Inspection Authority" in respect to each of the above named codes, free to visit and inspect at any time the internal situation in respect to the code in any member nation.

(5. adopt an Article of Constitution making it mandatory that any nation falling short in practice or operation in respect to any one of the standard codes, shall lose its voting right in the General Assembly and in the Security Council until such time as operations do comply with the code.

(6. establish a cadre of trained personnel to be loaned to new and developing countries, at their expense and at U.N. rates, to operate or supervise their departments of justice, education, finance, resources, etc. until such time as native personnel may be adequately educated and trained to take over.

(7. establish a Supreme Military Command under the jurisdiction of the Security Council, the Supreme Military Command to have:
(a) full and unrestricted authority over all military the Security Council to preserve peace in the world.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Jesus increased in wisdom and in stature, and in favor with God and man. (Luke 2:52, RSV)
PRAYER: Dear God, grant us to divine guidance so that we may know the amount of freedom to give those in our care. Grant us divine guidance as we live by faith in Christ Jesus, our Savior. Amen.

British Troops Break Through Irish Barricades

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops breached the barricades of Roman Catholic-controlled "Free Belfast" for the first time today in a major show of force designed to bring the city back under control.

Infantrymen with automatic weapons moved inside the barricades at the southern end of Albert Road, which forms the spine across the Falls Road Catholic stronghold.

They told a crowd who tried to repel them: "It's tear gas first and then we fire."

At the north end of the road they met a jeering crowd of the Catholic vigilantes who have held the area for the past three weeks.

The troops brought up bulldozers and truckloads of reserves. But as yet they made no effort there to go behind the barricades.

After a two-hour confrontation, the military came to an agreement with the leaders of the street's "defense committee" that the barricades would be removed and the army would guarantee the street protection.

The barricades control one eighth of Belfast since rioting broke out in mid-August. The military have been increasingly anxious to get them down for fear of a Protestant backlash.

Protestant areas are incensed by the Catholic flying of the Irish republic flag within the barricaded strongholds.

In East Belfast on the other side of the city, police dispersed an angry group of 1,000 Protestants who were advancing on a Roman Catholic section to tear down barricades.

About 1,500 British troops stood by but were not called in. Police encountered some stone-throwing from the demonstrators.

Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark only hours earlier had appealed for calm.

Protestant protests were mounting after Catholics who feared attacks refused to dismantle barricades they had erected during last month's rioting.

Mrs. Eula Brown, 58, passenger in a 1964 Chevrolet, driven by her husband, Virgil Brown, 60, died when their car was struck by a 1969 Chevrolet pickup truck, driven by James Swiney, 21, Catron.

The patrol harged that the Swiney pickup truck was speeding. The driver applied the brakes as the Brown car attempted to make a left turn into the drive of their home.

The truck struck the Brown car and both vehicles traveled 111 feet into a ditch. Both caught fire and burned.

Both drivers were pulled from the burning vehicles. The patrol said the woman passenger was not seen in time to be rescued.

Brown received a concussion and cuts. Swiney also suffered a concussion and internal injuries.

Both were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital in critical condition.

The body of Mrs. Brown was taken to Watkins and Sons Funeral Home in Parma.

Friday at 10 a.m. at the intersection of highway 60 and route E at the east limits of Morehouse, James Drake, 18, Charleston was injured seriously in a car-truck collision. He was a passenger in a 1969 Chevrolet, driven by Henry Dark, 20, Edmond, Okla.

The Dark car attempted to make a left turn, when a 1964 GMC truck, driven by William McClain, 51, Jonesboro, Ark., attempted to pass. Dark and McClain also were injured.

The three were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

Billy Sibole, 20, Williamsville, received a broken left leg, in two-car collision Friday at 4:30 p.m. on route T, eight miles north of Poplar Bluff.

A 1959 Chevrolet driven by Charles Foster, 26, Newton, Iowa, ran over the center line and struck a 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Sibole, headon, the patrol charged.

Sibole was taken to the Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

Seven children passengers on a school bus complained of minor injuries in an accident Friday at 3:30 p.m. on route C, one mile southwest of Cross-town in Perry county.

A 1967 school bus, driven by Hilda Brueckner, 50, Perryville, and a 1965 Chevrolet school bus, driven by Jo Ann Lane, 32, Brazee, were parked side by side on a hill top when a 1967 Buick, driven by James Streiler, 46, St. Louis, rounded a curve, came over the hill and skidded into the 1967 bus.

A SMILE sparkling personality enabled Debbie Purcelli to win the 1969 Little Miss Dexter title Friday night among 63 contestants. She flashes that smile after outgoing Miss Dexter, Miss Jamie Carney, rear, crowns her. Named first alternate was Miss Shannon Lynn Hendricks, left. Miss Penny Garner gained the second alternate spot.

Gamblin Cited On Two Counts Of Misconduct

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Special Commissioner Ray Weightman has recommended that the Missouri Supreme Court discipline Granville L. Gamblin, a St. Louis Court Attorney, on two counts of professional misconduct.

The former circuit judge from Maryville found that on count one Gamblin, as attorney for the former Mrs. Jean Shelby of Poplar Bluff, encouraged the woman to meet with the judge hearing the divorce case in which she was the defendant.

The evidence showed, Weightman said, that former Circuit Judge John Hasler, Gamblin and Mrs. Shelby met in Gamblin's office to discuss the case. The evidence also showed that Mrs. Shelby told Gamblin she was meeting Judge Hasler intimately.

"Fine," the commissioner's report quoted Gamblin as saying, "don't tell anyone about the meetings."

The Missouri House of Representatives drafted articles of impeachment against Judge Hasler for his part in the Shelby case but he resigned and surrendered his law license just before the Supreme Court was to have heard the impeachment charges.

Count two was an estate case from Dent County where Gamblin grew up and practiced law until 1944. He is 66 years old now.

In that case he allegedly demanded a $6,000 fee before turning over a deed involved in an estate.

Weightman said that was improper.

Armstrong Tells Teens Of Supreme Being Awareness

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Neil A. Armstrong, home for his first visit since walking on the moon, said today he is "most aware of the power of the Supreme Being and His art work."

The 39-year-old astronaut sped to more than 2,000 cheering teen-agers, shook hands with his high school classmates of 1947 and visited with newsmen before heading for appearances at two luncheons of planned simultaneously in his honor.

"I find it difficult to believe," he told newsmen, "anyone could see the sights I was privileged to see and the views I was shown on my travel and not be most aware of the power of the supreme being and his art work."

He told the teen-agers that the star Aquarius, also the name of a popular song, helped guide him back to earth.

A few minutes later he shook hands with members of his 1947 Wapakoneta High School graduating class and kissed one on the cheek.

The inevitable question, "Do you remember me?" caused him to stop in front of one former classmate.

"Punky, I'll never forget you," he replied to Doris Weber.

Then he leaned and shook her on the cheek and shook hands with her husband, Kenneth Weber, who started taking flying lessons with Armstrong here in 1946.

This Northwest Ohio town of 7,500 filled up early with thousands of visitors who hoped for a glimpse of the first man to walk on natural earth satellite.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and comedian Bob Hope were asked to lead a parade and people stationed themselves along its route hours ahead of time.

As Armstrong arrived for the meeting with teen-agers, he circled the cinder track in front of the football field bleachers in a red convertible automobile.

"Some of you have a fan song that has become a fan song of mine. This is the dawning of the star of Aquarius . . ."

"The star of Aquarius helped me in my flight and rendezvous with the Apollo 11."

Enemy Prolongs Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops launched a second day of heavy attacks across South Vietnam today and battled allied troops in jungles northwest of Saigon and along coastal lowlands south of Da Nang.

The Viet Cong radio said the new round of attacks was a response to the death Wednesday of President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam.

A broadcast monitored in Saigon said the attacks were launched "to change sorrow into a revolutionary act after receiving the news of chairman Ho's death."

The heaviest attacks hit the Da Nang area, South Vietnam's second largest city 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

Viet Cong gunners slammed at least 140 rounds of rockets and mortars into the city and 15 American military installations.

At least 15 persons were killed and 156 wounded in the Da Nang attacks. Millions of dollars worth of food and fuel went up in flames as 100-pound rockets tore through supply depots.

The dead included three U.S. Marines, seven Vietnamese children and six Vietnamese civilians. The wounded included 120 Marines, 12 sailors and 23 Vietnamese civilians.

U.S. headquarters reported the enemy launched 40 rocket and mortar attacks overnight, including those at Da Nang, but said that only about half of them caused casualties or damage.

In addition to the casualties at Da Nang, another 68 Americans were wounded in shelling elsewhere across the country.

Seven fresh enemy ground attacks were reported today and at least two battles still were raging north of Saigon.

U.S. Headquarters said at least 89 North Vietnamese had been killed in the two fights. Incomplete reports put U.S. casualties at three killed and 41 wounded.

Since the heavy action began Friday, at least 34 American troops have been killed and 367 wounded.

The U.S. Command said the sudden upsurge of enemy activity marked the second "highpoint" of the Communist Command's fall campaign. The first was on Aug. 12 when 137 allied bases and towns came under attack.

Although the Viet Cong radio claimed the second round of blows were a reaction to Ho Chi Minh's death, U.S. officers tended to discount this. They said that captured documents and prisoner interrogations two weeks before Ho's death had indicated another sudden eruption of enemy attacks this week.

Communist delegations were arriving in Hanoi from all over the world for the funeral of the North Vietnamese president who died Wednesday.

But the Communist Chinese delegation headed by Premier Chou en-lai already has paid its respects and returned to Peking, apparently to avoid being in the city when Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin arrives today. It was not made clear whether the Communist Chinese delegation would return for the funeral, scheduled for Wednesday.

Nine Others Object to Inquest Rules

BOSTON (AP) — Nine persons who attended a party with Mary Jo Kopechne and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy the night she died in a car he was driving have joined the senator in asking the state Supreme Court to rule against conditions set for an inquest into her death.

The petitions filed Friday by the five girls and four men who attended the Chappaquiddick island party parallel the one filed Tuesday by Kennedy in asking the court to overturn 70 ground rules established for the inquest by Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown District Court.

Their petitions, however, 68 have an extra clause contending that their rights to privacy would be violated by an open inquest.

Like Kennedy's petition, the nine new ones argue that Judge Boyle erred in ruling that news media would be admitted, and that he deprived them of "due process" protection by refusing witnesses permission to have counsel present at all times to cross-examine witnesses, and to present evidence.

A court source said that the nine new petitions filed Friday would be sent before the full bench with Kennedy's for a package ruling.

Creating New Nobles Theme of Ceremonial

Creating new nobles will be the theme of the Semo Shrine Club Ceremonial next Saturday. About 500 Shriners from throughout Missouri will attend.

The Ceremonial is open to Masons, who have advanced to the Knights Templar degree, York Rite or to the 32nd degree Scottish Rite. Petitions may be obtained from Shrine Club officers.

The Shrine, known as the playground of Masonry, has a membership of 851,000 representing 170 Temples in North America. They own and operate 10 hospitals for crippled children and three burn institutes with an operating budget of more than $28,000,000 annually.

This money is obtained through Shrine endeavors that include all-star football games, basketball games, circuses, and other activities such as grants, wills, bequests, of its members. The Shriners are known as the world's greatest philanthropists. Each year more than 6000 crippled or severely burned children are treated at the hospitals or burns institutes. Over the years, some 150,000 children have benefited from the work of the institute.

New Miss America to Be Crowned

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Performing a Martian dance, Miss Ohio, Kathy Lynn Baumann, won her second triumph in preliminary competition for the Miss America Pageant as tonight's finale approached for its 50 beautiful contestants.

Wearing a gold skin-tight space suit, Kathy, who lives only 50 miles from Neil Armstrong's hometown in Ohio, performed an original interpretative dance and gave a monologue on the moon landing to win the talent division.

"I've never met Mr. Armstrong, but I would like to someday," the 19-year-old brunette said.

Armstrong, first man to set foot on the moon, receives an official welcoming in Wapakoneta today while Kathy, a resident of Independence, attempts to soar into fame and fortune as Miss America 1970.

Miss Michigan, Pamela Anne Eldred of Birmingham, dazzled the 7,900 spectators in Convention Hall with her 36-23-36 figure to win the swimsuit division.

"I was shocked," Pamela said. "I always feel that somebody else has a better figure than I do."

Miss Michigan, a 21-year-old Mercy College of Detroit senior, aspires for a theatrical career.

Miss Ohio, who won the swimsuit competition Wednesday, slipped on the launching pad Friday night.

Hearnes Hopeful of Chances

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Issues being placed before the Missouri General Assembly in a special session beginning Monday stand a "fair chance" for passage, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said at a press conference here Friday.

Hearnes made a brief reference to criticism issued earlier in the day by Earl Blackwell, president pro tem of the Senate and the chief foe of the governor's tax proposals. The Democrat from Hillsboro had termed Hearnes' call for a special session "the most flagrant disregard of the people's will that I've ever witnessed."

Hearnes said people have a right to decide whom to believe on an issue. He said his figures on the state's tax needs were worked out by his budget staff, by the legislature's own fiscal officer, and with support from the Missouri Public Expenditures survey.

The governor also was critical of a report that former House speaker Thomas Graham was planning to add a referendum provision for a vote of the people on tax measures.

Hearnes was in Springfield to throw out the first pitch for the national softball tournament.

Davis Seriously Ill; Wife Dies

GENEVA (AP) — William True Davis, former assistant secretary of the U.S. treasury and ambassador to Switzerland from 1963 to 1965, is seriously ill with sleeping sickness apparently contracted while on a safari in Uganda, a hospital spokesman here said today.

The spokesman said Davis' wife died of the same disease at a hospital in Kampala, Uganda.

The spokesman said Davis, 50, is expected to recover but will require intensive care for several weeks.

Davis, 50, was a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Missouri. He is from St. Joseph, Mo.

The spokesman said Davis did not become ill until he arrived in Bern and then was rushed to a hospital in Geneva.

He added the ambassador's son is still in Uganda and has not been affected by the sickness.

Saturday, September 6, 1969, Mud could prove to be a problem by mid-morning.

Poor Charlie Says!

We've listened to a lot of pro and cons about the business conditions, farm situation, stock market, inflation and the "money squeeze" affecting loans and interest rates, so we asked a smart cookie who has earned our admiration over the years to give us his assessment, especially to businessmen.

In short, this is what he said:
"Whether you are a part of top management or run your own business we suggest you keep the following points in mind:

"Stay out of debts that can knock you out of your business. This includes keeping down your current bills so that your creditors cannot shut off your business.

"If you can, take every step to build up sufficient cash resources that will take you through any trying period.

"We recommend a basic plan that will take you through three possible stages of a fast-moving decline in business:

"First stage: Cut out all your slow-moving merchandise items. Tighten up on your credit extensions. If you are in manufacturing, you might want to dispose of some of your productive facilities because there will be plenty of merchandise around of all kinds. Perhaps you can switch your energies -- try concentrating on sales.

"Second stage: This is the period when everyone will try to convince you that the trouble is over and that Washington will take care of things. Take this with a grain of salt and use this period to consolidate further in the areas mentioned in the first stage, and then prepare for the biggest wall of all.

"Third stage: This could actually prove to be the most difficult of all these stages. Hurried and panicky decisions from consumers, businessmen and bankers may cause the severest cut in sales volume. Avoid wishful thinking in this stage. You should keep your inventory tight as can be, not hesitating to be short of inventory if necessary because the chances are that you will get more merchandise easily as goods start chasing cash. Above all, if you are running a business don't fall for the wonderful business talk. Just calmly and coolly tighten up your business ship. Cut costs wherever you can. Do all you can to knock down receivables by encouraging cash payments with incentive discounts. Move inventories where you can on a cash basis.

"If you follow some of those simple everyday principles, you can't help but come out ahead in a financial and business crunch."

To this, all we can add is that you can take it or leave it -- but think.

A NEW ROLE FOR OLD GLORY

The Hebron (Nebraska) Journal-Register reports that the Hebron police force is joining the growing list of police units across the country that are adding an emblem consisting of a full-color reproduction of the flag to their uniform.

The trend began in Macon, Georgia, where instance of attacks on police officers had grown to abnormal proportions. The emblems bearing the flag were added to the police uniforms and the attacks fell off almost immediately. Though there was no proof that the drop in attacks and the flag's appearance were linked, it seems more than coincidental.

At any rate, the American Federation of Police got behind the idea and it is spreading. In Roselle, New Jersey, patrol cars are decorated with a plastic flag emblem on the side. Many police and fire vehicles show the flag either on their antennas or on windows.

Chief B. L. Woolard of Hebron was quoted in the Journal-Register as saying in his announcement of the uniform emblem: "The police officer today stands for law and order in this community. He is the symbol of freedom, justice and protection for the law abiding. It is therefore very appropriate for us to wear and display our nation's flag as part of our uniform to remind our citizens of the role we play in the defense of their homes and lives."

Chief Woolard is right. Too often we overlook the importance of the police officer to the community and the nation. We are, after all, a nation of many communities. We are the United States of America, not the United States. That plural denotes many states composed of many parts -- the communities these men protect. They deserve to wear the colors of the nation. We hope the idea catches hold all across the nation, in every hamlet and village, town and city.

A release by The Association of Western Railways noted President Nixon's description of the nation's transportation network as an example of democracy at work. He expressed this view while signing a Presidential proclamation designating National Defense Transportation Day and National Transportation Week. May 16 has been designated as National Defense Transportation Day, and the week of May 11-17 as National Transportation Week. President Nixon's proclamation said, in part: "Transportation makes all other industries possible... It must be designed to give our citizens the mobility they need... Our commerce and culture depend on a revitalized transportation industry to end congestion and delay and to prepare for the burgeoning demands of the future."

THE LONG, COOLED SUMMER

It seems to have little to do with the weather, but in terms of violence we are coming to the end of a long, cooled summer. Steamy as the days have been in most of the cities, we've got along pretty well with a minimum of riots and civil disorders.

Statistics are hard to come by. But a special "riot watch" unit in the U. S. Department of Justice tells Editorial Research Reports that there were just seven incidents classified as riots in the first seven months of this year as against 24 in the like period of 1968. And the majority of these were in so-called "second echelon" cities -- places like Passaic, N. J., and Harrisburg and York, Pa., which previously had had little history of racial conflict.

For the big cities the story for the most part has been isolated sniper incidents. Even so, the Lemberg Center for the Study of Violence at Brandeis University noted recently that it had uncovered only 25 incidents of sniping during some 100 disturbances and that only eight of these incidents might have been premeditated.

Another source within the Justice Department lists 2,736 incidents of violence as of mid-1969, as against 4,489 such incidents in the whole of 1968. A spokesman warned that the figures were not comparable and did not reflect the marked dampening down of city violence.

The senate government operations Permanent Investigations subcommittee last Oct. 9 issued a report updating its 1967 statistics on urban riots and civil disorders. The period ran from September 1967 to July 1968 and included the massive riots following the April 1968 assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Senate study listed 57 riots, leading to the death of four law officers and 55 civilians, causing injuries to some 3,897 persons, and producing an estimated $48 million in property damage. Washington suffered the heaviest damage -- about $24 million. Unfortunately, the subcommittee is carrying no running tally for comparison this year.

Why the lull? Perhaps the assassinations after the King murder provided a kind of catharsis of emotions. Perhaps it suddenly became respectable to call out the National Guard -- though still pretty lily-white and jerryed at as White Panthers -- as a deterrent to riots.

Government officials will tell you quietly that police departments in the big city this summer were prepared -- and armed -- against street violence. Small cities, with inadequate and unsophisticated police forces, were not.

A Justice Department spokesman says also that people in the ghetto are beginning to realize that civil disorder -- in the forms of riot, looting, fire bombing, and shooting -- works against their very own people. "Creative disorder" is being cited as a force for preventing big-city racial riots.

Put very simply, ghetto activists are channeling heretofore explosive energies into meaningful protest. Walter Bremond, chairman of the Black Congress in Los Angeles, predicted eight months ago: "The thrust now is to organize the black community at every level to control our own communities. No sooner or later the ghetto had to stop fouling its very own nest."

Did you know? Enough people are born every 39 days to fill a city the size of New York? In 1968 world population increase equalled the combined populations of France and Spain. New Americans are being born at the rate of one every 14 seconds -- a slowdown from 1964's one every 12 seconds.

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

—By Jack Anderson—

WASHINGTON--President Nixon is preparing to throw the full weight of the White House behind a volunteer action program for college campuses. His idea is to challenge the youthful rebels to put their muscle where their mouths are and to correct the social deficiencies they have so vocally criticized.

As a beginning, the White House was compiled a manual, which will be sent to campuses across the country. This column has obtained an advance copy of the manual, which declares bluntly:

"Working as volunteers allows students to turn their deep concern with social problems to positive rather than destructive ends. The student who cannot do something about his concerns is a frustrated student, and there have been many frustrated students among the crowds that cause turmoil on campuses.

"Only a tiny minority of students are radicals. Most students want to work for change within the system. Schools that support volunteer programs are taking a realistic approach to meeting the needs of their students. It is no panacea, but it is a step in the right direction."

President Nixon believes that most of today's explosive generation consists of moderates with good intentions. They possess an enormous energy and an unremitting spirit of idealism -- a combination, he feels, that is lethal only when kids lack direction and follow the path of least resistance.

He hopes to tap this tremendous well of energy and divert it into constructive channels before it has a chance to vent itself in violence. As the President sees it, the Federal Government should be as invisible as possible. If volunteer programs are to be successful, they must be staffed and supported by the students themselves.

THE WRONG ANSWERS

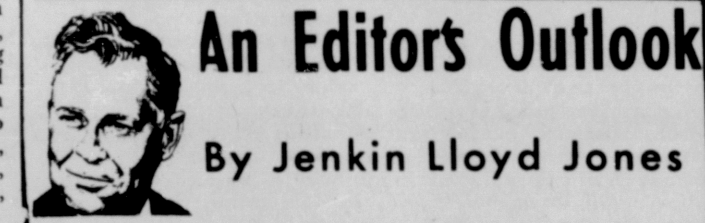

The head of a leading Washington State utility firm, in addressing a college graduating class, stressed the ultimate responsibility of the individual for the quality of life in a modern society.

By citing an example in his own company, he suggested how not to apply for a job. Two important positions were open in the engineering department. Of the first twenty applicants for the two jobs, eighteen were rejected because of the kind of questions they asked. They did not seem interested in promotion, or the nature of problems the company has to solve. Instead, they asked principally about the company's pension plan, retirement, and the nature of fringe benefits. Pensions and security are all right, but... We buy machines for production, not for polishing and oiling, and strange as it may sound, we hire employees for the same reason."

We hear a great deal about the search for challenges nowadays. It could be that too many of like our challenges to come equipped with a guarantee of security.

THE USES OF FRUSTRATION
by Jenkin Lloyd Jones
BABBITT, Minn.--All afternoon the languid wallies and northern, deep in the cool, amber waters of Birch Lake, have been turning their fishy eyes on a parade-my parade.

They have observed an endless succession of minnows, jigs, spiders, frogs, flatfish, wobblers, poppers, spoons and muddlers dragged back and forth across the bar in futile seduction. I am utterly frustrated -- and happy.

FISHING is a frustrating business devoted to the entrapment of that most idiotic and unpredictable of God's creatures, A fish is insane. The fly that is irresistible at 8 o'clock is a subject of nausea at 9. Yesterday the secret was fresh live bait. Tomorrow it may be a plastic worm filled with blue goo. Fish are made moody by the phases of the moon, rendered antisocial by atmospheric pressure and driven into paralysis by a shift of wind.

Still the fishermen come, weary of a thousand miles of highways, laden with outlandish lures, spurred by advertisements showing grinning cretins lifting impossible strings. And we have a wonderful time, why?

WHEN Dr. Freud laid much of man's unhappiness to frustration he was pointing to those gnawing frustrations that hammer down the ego, twist the lid, lacerate the libido and are compensated for in foolish fantasies if not dementia. Most frustration is fun.

If they ever take the frustration out of fishing it will be a drag, and we are heading that way. You can already buy portable sonars that will not only outline the bottom but will bounce echoes off a fish.

Soon there will be small computers into which you will crank sun time, water temperature and barometer and it will read out "Try a gold spinner at 7 feet," or just "Go home." That will finish the fun of fishing.

OR TAKE golf. For all but the gifted few it is a dreary succession of whiffs, flubs, tops, hooks, slices, shanks and journeys into jungles more futile than the search for the Holy Grail. Yet the line at the first tee lengthens every year and the perspiring and furious wretches who hole out at 18 are utterly convinced that tomorrow will be a better day. It's a miserable business. And it's fun.

Man was not made for fulfillment. He was made for hope. He was designed to reach and usually fail. He really doesn't want to win all the time -- or even most of the time. Why are the most popular solitaire games those that generally beat you?

RECREATION, therefore, is not so much the avoidance of frustration as the substitution of new and exciting ones for those that are old and tiresome. Balancing on a surfboard, climbing a mountain or trying to make a grand slam on a 14-count all present problems pregnant with potential disaster.

The quickest way to make a child miserable is to try to spare him frustration. The utterly spoiled youngster is a flaming boil of petulance, guilt, self-hatred and boredom. Denied healthy struggle he will reach for the unhealthy chance. Parents in the emergency room after the hot rod wreck ask, "Where have we failed?" Perhaps they failed to let the youngster save and work and scheme for what he wanted and fall short occasionally, even then.

ONE characteristic of chronic juvenile delinquents has been described as their "low frustration tolerance." They cannot plan ahead. They cannot work toward an end. They can only smash and grab. And their happiness factor seems close to zero.

It is too early to write the psychological history of the hippie phenomenon. Ten years from now we may. But the effort to find happiness by seeking instant leuphoria in pot, a perpetual sexual gratification with the round-heeled chick may prove disastrous. Satire is not the bag of truly creative people.

The great love literature of the world was written, not by the spent, but by the yearners.

VICTORY is delicious because true triumph is rare. It is the 80-yard touchdown, the wower of an investment, the proclaiming of your last rival or Miss First Runner-Up, the decoration by the general, the suddenly bowed rod and the reel that sings like an angel.

What makes them wonderful is the hours and days we spent just hoping.

Did you ever stop and figure just how much you spend advertising your product? You might be interested in reading about some of the more successful firms and their budgets. Last year Procter and Gamble spent $265 million; General Motors $208 million; Ford Motors $132 million and Bristol - Myers $128 million.

***
In per cent of the sales dollar Bristol - Myers spent 27.3 cents; Colgate - Palmolive 22.4 cents; Sterling Drug, 21.3 cents; Lever Bros. 18.4 cents, Gillett 14.6 cents; P & P 10.9 cents.

She Should Give Up Her Future For His...

Dear Ann Landers: I am 22, have just completed two years of college and am fighting off two families, my girl's and mine. Here's the problem - and if you can't help me, forget it. I don't need any more negative opinions.

Laura will be 17 in November. She has one more year of high school. I want to marry her before school starts. And don't say she is too young. You've never met her. This girl is mature and solid and more of a woman than any college chick I've ever dated.

If Laura and I got married she could find a good job and I could quit working part-time and devote all my time to studying. It's very tough to work and study, too. Laura could get her high school diploma through the mail or go back to school later - after I graduate.

She is willing, but her folks are violently opposed and so are mine. How about a helping hand? - T.N.T.

Dear T.N.T.: You don't need a hand. You need a foot, a brother, well placed. You want a 16-year-old girl to quit high school, go to work and help you through college, and she can get HER diploma through the mail or go back later, eh?

If Laura has one operating side of the marriage veil? How brain cell in her head she will can in school where she belongs and tell you to get lost.

Dear Ann Landers: Six months ago my beloved husband passed away. We had no children and my entire existence revolved around him. When he died, part of me died with him. I am depressed and lonely.

I've been offered an appealing position as a housemother in a dorm on campus. Friends say it would be ideal. I did counseling several years ago and enjoyed it thoroughly. But I can't make up my mind. There are times when I feel I'll go crazy if I don't get away from my memories. Then again I can't bear to say good-bye to this lovely apartment where Fashion became the greatest enemy of birds of paradise. In the 1890s plumes sold for as much as $50 each in the millinery marts of Paris and Amsterdam.

CERAMIC SCULPTURING has become a big part of Mrs. Vonda Bryant's life. She is shown in her home as she goes about creating an image of Police Chief Arthur Bruce.

Sikeston Police Woman Is Very Versatile!

Television's "I Led Three Lives" program that was popular back in the 1950s could just as easily have been about Sikeston's police woman, Mrs. Vonda Bryant.

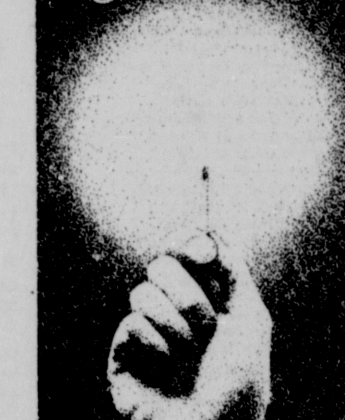

In addition to her police activities, Mrs. Bryant is a mother and wife and beginning Tuesday night she will instruct an adult education class in ceramics at Senior High School. This is the first time such a class has been available at the school.

Mrs. Bryant, prior to becoming a police woman, worked in ceramics 13 years at Mayfield, Ky.

"In the class, which will last eight weeks, I hope to give everyone enough basic knowledge to make any type of ceramic ware," she said.

Mrs. Bryant said anyone who "loves to work with their hands" and "create new things" would enjoy the course, which can

The POWER of FAITH BY WOODI ISHMAEL

Brother Ronald, a British monk with the Society of St. Francis, has been sort of a Pied Piper to the children of the island of Bermuda. On a recent visit from Liverpool, England, to St. Johns Church in Bermuda, Brother Ronald conducted a youth mission, bringing his guitar and his infectious personality. He introduced a lively atmosphere to the singing of the hymns. He encouraged the children to bring new songs, poems and music they could sing in church. Many children brought their own guitars and ukuleles. It was great fun and a dynamic experience in the power of faith.

By appealing to the children's own interests he made firm friends and gave them a strong sense of Christian living and unity. Brother Ronald has worked for many years with the Bishop of Liverpool's Industrial Chaplaincy, visiting schools, organizations and, in particular, factories. As a young man Brother Ronald was a commercial artist and "semi-pro" actor. This background has helped him in appealing to his audiences, particularly children.

"Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me: for of such is the Kingdom of heaven." (St. Matthew 19, 14.)

Former Bloomfield Coach Named Mizzou Assistant

COLUMBIA -- Norm Stewart, basketball coach at the University of Missouri-Columbia, today dipped into the high school coaching ranks to hire a replacement for Roy Dewitz, his top assistant.

Walt Shublom, (pronounced SHOE-BLOOM), highly successful cage coach at Wyandotte high school in Kansas City, Kan., for 14 years, will succeed Dewitz, who resigned this week to go into the insurance field. Dan Devine, director of athletics, announced the coaching change.

Shublom, whose Bulldog teams won 10 state championships (the last three in a row), and 13 conference titles, will be an assistant coach in charge of the freshman team. Dan McCleary will be Stewart's varsity assistant.

"I am very pleased that our basketball program would attract a high school coach of the Walt's stature," Stewart said. "He has achieved what is almost impossible to achieve on a high school level -- national recognition."

Shublom has a lifetime record of 296 wins and 26 losses. At one time the veteran coach had five of his former players starting on Big Eight teams. Three of his most prominent proteges won prep all-America honors -- Larry Comley, Lucius Allen and Pierre Russell.

Last year, Shublom was voted national High School Coach - of - the Year in District 5. A graduate of Southeast Missouri State, he began his high school coaching career in Bloomfield, Mo.

Shublom is married and has a daughter Mary Ann, 17, and a son Sam, 9. He holds a Masters degree from the University of Kansas.

Dewitz came to Columbia with Stewart two years ago. The former K-State all-conference guard had been head coach at

Big Weekend of Football

O. J. Simpson, one of the most celebrated rookies in pro football, returns to the scene of his college exploits in Los Angeles tonight.

Buffalo Coach John Rauch indicated he might start his Heisman Trophy-winning halfback against the Los Angeles Rams as part of an all-rookie backfield. That would mean he would start Bill Enyard in the other running back slot and Jim Harris of Grambling College at quarterback. Simpson started running with the Bills' first unit on Wednesday after carrying 12 times for 52 yards in games with the Lions, Colts and Bears.

The Rams are favored to boost their pre-season record to 3-2, but many in the sellout crowd of 60,000 will be there to see Simpson perform as a pro for the first time in Los Angeles after a dazzling career at Southern Cal.

The Bills, 1-4 for the summer, wind up their pre-season schedule before hosting the World Champion New York Jets in an American Football League opener next Sunday. The Rams, strong contenders in the National Football League Coastal Division, play their last exhibition game against the San Francisco 49ers Sept. 13.

In other games tonight, the Jets, 3-2, are at Dallas, 3-1, with Joe Namath a questionable starter because of a slightly strained tendon in his left knee; Pittsburgh, 1-2, is at Green Bay, 2-2; Houston, 2-2, is at New Orleans, 2-2; Atlanta, 2-2, at Kansas City, 5-0; Cleveland, 2-1-1, at Washington, 2-2; Detroit, 3-1, meets Philadelphia, 2-1, at Raleigh, N.C.; Boston, 2-2, faces Miami, 0-5, at Birmingham, Ala.; Cincinnati, 2-2, plays host to Denver, 1-3, and the New York Giants, 0-3, are at Minnesota, 3-1.

San Francisco, 0-4, entertains St. Louis, 2-2, in the only game Sunday.

While Los Angeles fans are assured of their money's worth, 73,000 fans in Dallas expecting to witness Namath in his Cotton Bowl debut might go home disappointed. The game has been sold out for two weeks--the earliest sellout in Cowboys history.

Namath says he hurt his knee against Minnesota last weekend and said he wouldn't decide until the pregame warmup if he would play. Dr. James Nicholas, the Jets' orthopedic specialist, said he would advise the quarterback to rest, since it's just an exhibition game so his knee would be in shape for the opener against Buffalo.

Namath's knee problem is not expected to affect his readiness for the season.

If Namath doesn't play, Ewbank will get a longer look at rookie Al Woodall and 39-year-old Babe Parilli, who are vying for the No. 2 quarterback spot. Woodall directed 15 plays in a 67-yard drive to seal the Jets' 24-1 victory over Minnesota.

The Packers and Steelers will each reveal revitalized offenses

but the Packers, who had more to begin with than the Steelers, are heavily favored. Green Bay appeared to have pulled together the right offense when they topped Cleveland from the unbeaten ranks.

"We have people who can block, who can carry the ball, who can catch the ball and who can pass," Packers Coach Phil Bengtson said after the 27-17 decision over Cleveland. Bengtson then moved running back Denny Anderson to flanker in practice "in case we want to use him there."

In another development, Green Bay withdrew waivers on running back Perry Williams, a rookie from Purdue, after the Steelers claimed him. Williams had been waived after fracturing his hand in the Cleveland game.

NBA Commissioner Attacks ABA Tactics

By SHEILA MORAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association charged today that the rival American Basketball Association was raiding college players in an effort to harass the NBA into agreeing to a merger of the two leagues.

"This harassment on the part of the ABA won't work," Kennedy said. "The resumption of any merger talks at this time would be very difficult."

Kennedy described the signing of Detroit University star Spencer Haywood with the Denver Rockets of the ABA as deplorable and was just as angry about reports that ABA clubs had approached at least two other college players who, like Haywood, have not yet graduated.

"For many years, pro football and basketball clubs have religiously and with great integrity adhered to the policy of not drafting college players until their class is graduated," Kennedy said.

Kennedy placed much of the blame on James Gardner, president of the ABA and owner of the Carolina Cougars.

"It's unfortunate that a man who has been in pro sports for only six months and who owns a team that has not even played a game would allow this sort of thing to happen," he said.

Gardner could not be reached for comment.

Kennedy said he has had calls from a number of coaches who were worried that the NBA might get into the act.

"I responded with a flat and affirmative no," he said.

Two coaches, Johnny Dee of Notre Dame and Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, have already publicly denounced the ABA action. Tennessee Coach Ray Mears also expressed concern.

Dee said he would ask the College Basketball Coaches Association to bar ABA personnel from collegiate games, locker rooms and practices. Rupp demanded a hands-off policy and a commitment from both leagues that no college player would be drafted until after he graduates.

It was reported Friday that ABA clubs had offered contracts to Calvin Murphy, All-America from Niagara University, and Bob Lanier of St. Bonaventure. Both are beginning their senior year this month.

There were rumors Murphy had been contacted by the Los Angeles Stars.

Murphy told Niagara Coach Frank Layden he would not sign. Lanier's father said a New York lawyer had contacted his son about an ABA offer.

Haywood, 1968 Olympian who had two years of eligibility left at Detroit, signed with the Rockets two weeks ago. The ABA signed Haywood as a hardship case, but Kennedy said the NBA does not follow that policy because "it would violate the player's scholarship contract with his college."

Meanwhile there were reports that several NBA players planned to jump to ABA teams. The two leagues halted merger talks last month when the Cougars signed Billy Cunningham of the NBA's Philadelphia 76ers to a contract, effective in two years, and the ABA shifted its Oakland franchise to Washington D.C.

The feud between the rival leagues recalls the pro football hassle of four years ago when the younger American Football League began signing stars of the established National League. The merger of the two leagues followed.

Tigers Hold Scrimmage

Missouri's Tigers scrimmage today with the top 25 players going against the remainder of the squad. By doing this Coach Dan Devine says he hopes to provide some competition. "We have a pretty good offense to test the No. 1 defense," he said. The scrimmage is closed to the public.

COSTUME COORDINATES... Handbags play an important role in accenting any fashion outfit. (Left) Fur and leather will go far this fall. The costume from Patti Capalli combines rich curly lamb with a supple suede. The bag is tan and white pony banded in butterscotch shiny leather. (Center) The safari suit is Bois de Rose no-tie cordoroy and its carry-all sidekick is an envelope. Wide gold grommets welding is the punctuation mark of this dressed down handbag look. (Right) With the long, longer, longest mood of a brilliant red maxicoat from Victor Joris, the bag is shiny, crinkled and substantial. The color is red and not necessarily the same as the coat. It looks just a bit like a man's briefcase but the material is textured, fingerprint-less orinkly patent and the strap is soft and slightly longer for feminine handling.

If You Were the Judge

Police to Blame for Decrepit Old Building

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

McFuddle owned a once proud mansion that was vacated by its tenants. Shortly after they departed, the mansion began to depart, too, piece by piece. Radiators disappeared, doors were removed and even bathtubs were cleaned out.

Soon the building was a broken down shell. To add to poor McFuddle's befuddlement, he was given a summons for maintaining a public hazard, to with an abandoned and decrepit old building.

"You can't blame me for the condition of the building," McFuddle pleaded in court. "Trying to maintain it is like trying to swat a mosquito when you're sleeping. It's impossible. In fact, every time I find something missing I report it to the police but they can't find the culprits or do anything about it, either. Soon the walls will walk away."

"Good!" answered the D.A. "Then there won't be any more building and no more problems. But in the meantime, the building belongs to McFuddle and he's responsible for the hazard."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict McFuddle of maintaining public hazard?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a city, through its police department, is duty bound to protect property; that, in this case, although the city's police department had all the ultra-modern scientific crime detecting paraphernalia at its disposal, it was unable to find the reason for, or to prevent, the disappearance of so seemingly stable an object as a house. Since the condition of McFuddle's building was due to the ineffectiveness of its own police department, concluded the judge, the city could not hold McFuddle responsible for the consequences of its own shortcomings.

Car Hits Truck, None Injured

NEW MADRID — In an early morning traffic accident today three miles south of New Madrid on Interstate 55, two escaped injuries when the car in which they were riding ran into a 1968 GMC tractor trailer truck. Both vehicles left the highway and entered the center median, spilling tons of commercial engines from the truck, onto the car.

The accident occurred at 6:45 a.m., when the driver of a 1969 Pontiac coach, Earnest Lee Brown, 29 of Chicago, attempted to pass the truck at excessive speed, investigating officers charged.

A car behind the truck started to pass the truck at the same time, causing Brown to pull back to the right side of the highway. Brown then lost control of the car and struck the truck in the right side.

Driver of the truck was Lawrence Alston Garrett, 32, of Henderson, Tex.

Brown was arrested on a charge of driving at an excessive speed by the highway patrol.

NO ONE WAS INJURED when this 1969 Pontiac was demolished this morning three miles south of New Madrid on Interstate 55. Tons of commercial engines spilled onto the car after the driver, Earnest Lee Brown, of Chicago, ran into the 1968 GMC tractor trailer truck, causing it to leave the highway. ## Autopsy Verifies

Pair's Identity

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An autopsy by the St. Louis City Morgue has established the identity of two bodies found last Friday in southeast Missouri as the daughter of an Iowa sheriff and her husband, the Highway Patrol said today.

The patrol requested the autopsy after a timber inspector found the skeleton remains of Mrs. Bonnie Sue Quick Swanson, 19.

The examination Wednesday showed bullet holes in the head and back of the young woman. No signs of injury were found on the male body, said Patrol Sgt. Kenneth Link.

The couple disappeared in late March enroute to Louisiana where the husband was to seek employment. The dead woman is the daughter of Des Moines County Sheriff Merritt Quick of Burlington, Iowa.

The bodies were found near Oak Ridge in Cape Girardeau County; Authorities said they were apparently dumped in a wooded area. The car the couple used was found Tuesday of this week at a railroad depot parking lot in Ft. Madison, Iowa. The Patrol said a parking ticket showed it had been there at least since May 4.
